What Happened

The Injured Person (IP) is a contract Traffic Controller (TC) and was in the process of establishing the site traffic management plan (TMP) for the day. Southern end signs were setup, and the TC was left to attend the control point. The TC Supervisor left the IP at the southern end of the worksite, then drove to set up the northern end to establish the remaining parts of the TMP signage.

On returning to the southern end to check the final setup, the Supervisor couldn't see the IP at their location. Closer inspection found the IP lying face down in the bush approximately 4 meters from the edge of seal. The Supervisor safely turned around and approached the IP who was seen struggling to a standing position; it was noted the IP had blood on their face, near nose and cheek.

The Supervisor and other TC assessed the IP's condition and called 000. The IP was placed in an air-conditioned vehicle, provided first aid, reassured, and then driven to meet the ambulance on route. The IP was assessed at the hospital and later discharged to rest at home following confirmation no serious head trauma or injury was sustained; a definite cause wasn't established, however a lost time injury (LTI) resulted.

A WorkSafe injury notification was made by both the contractor and Main Roads.

Side of the road position where IP was found.

A formal investigation has commenced. Once completed, the lessons learnt will be communicated/shared through a final Grey Banner Alert as soon as practicable.
