Incident Short Description	Skid steer loader reversed into tree, resulting in LTI
-----------------------------------	--

What Happened

On the afternoon of 20 July, a skid steer operator was working in a vehicle pull over area filling in potholes. Both the skid steer operator and spotter were focused on movement of the skid steer to prevent getting caught up in potholes, and were unaware of a tree in close proximity. Whilst reversing the skid steer, the operator impacted the tree causing damage to the skid steer in the form of a bent support arm.

The operator did not experience any discomfort immediately following the event, however, two days later they sought medical assessment for a sore back and neck, resulting in them being certified unfit for work for the remainder of the week.

A formal ICAM investigation has commenced. Once completed, the lessons learnt will be communicated through a Grey Banner Alert as soon as practicable.
