Incident Short Description:	Worker was attending to an injured member of public and strained they're back resulting in a LTI
------------------------------------	--

What Happened:
On Monday 19th of September at the Auski Roadhouse a Project Manager (PM) was attending to a member of public (MOP) that was injured. The MOP required assistance to the ground, while the PM was assisting the PM felt a twinge in their back, followed by pain and mobility restrictions. The PM was assisted back to their accommodation on site, applied an ice pack and had taken pain relief. The pain had not subsided, so the PM was moved from site and transported back to their home base. The PM reported the incident and was advised by their manager to seek medical attention; however, the PM was reluctant to do so and commenced on personal leave. After completing personal leave, the PM was working from home without a medical certificate advising fitness for work or alternative duties. This arrangement had the potential for further aggravation of the injury as the working from home setup had not been ergonomically assessed to cater for the injury. The IP attended a medical appointment on the 28th September resulting in confirmation of an LTI. A formal ICAM investigation has commenced. Once completed, the lessons learnt will be communicated/shared through a final Grey Banner Alert as soon as practicable.
